DEDICATION

The Bay View High School dedicates the 1958 Oracle Annual to the widening horizons in education, which this year significantly include the opportunities made available by educational television in biology and United States history.

September brings new faces and familiar routines.

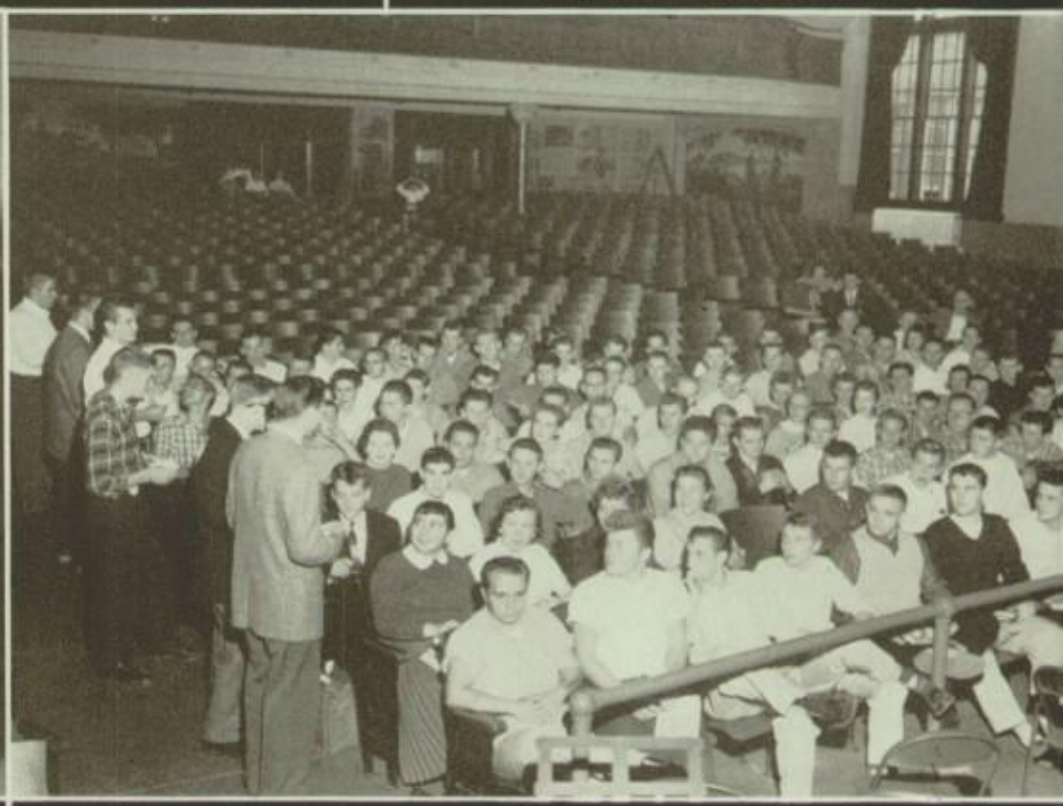
Freshmen of Homeroom 232 inspect lockers they will keep for four years.

Bay View's flag crew readies the Stars and Stripes for display in the auditorium.



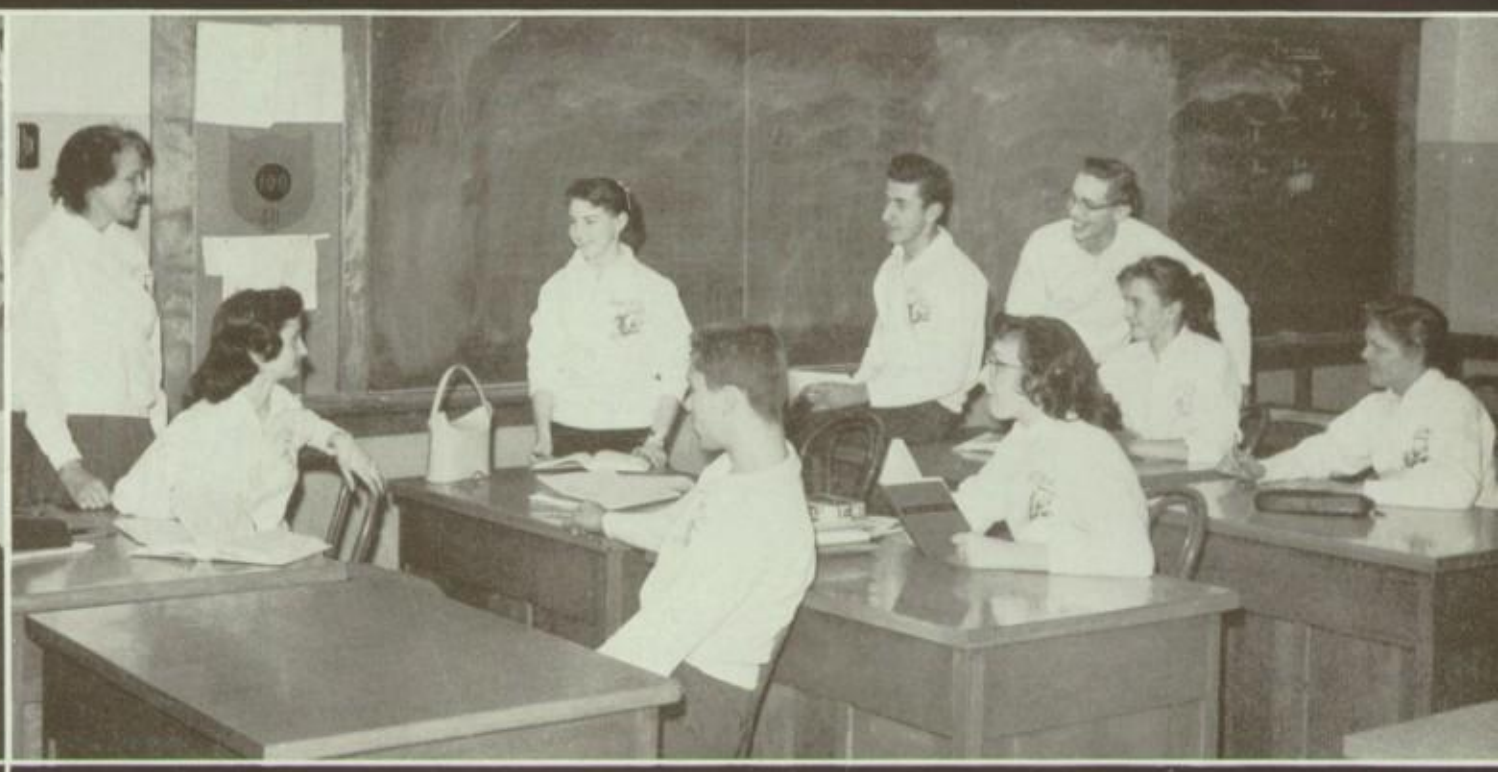
"It's for your own protection," Auto Registration Committee members tell Viewite drivers who register their cars.

Judy Schuetz, Nancy Ascherin, and Smith Brickhouse of freshman orientation, answer questions in Homeroom 115.

"Who'll be our chairman?" these girls ask as they sign up for lunch-time places in the cafeteria.

Spirit and variety are emphasized in our school activities.

K Club members present the plaque to Miss Underberg's 9B freshmen.

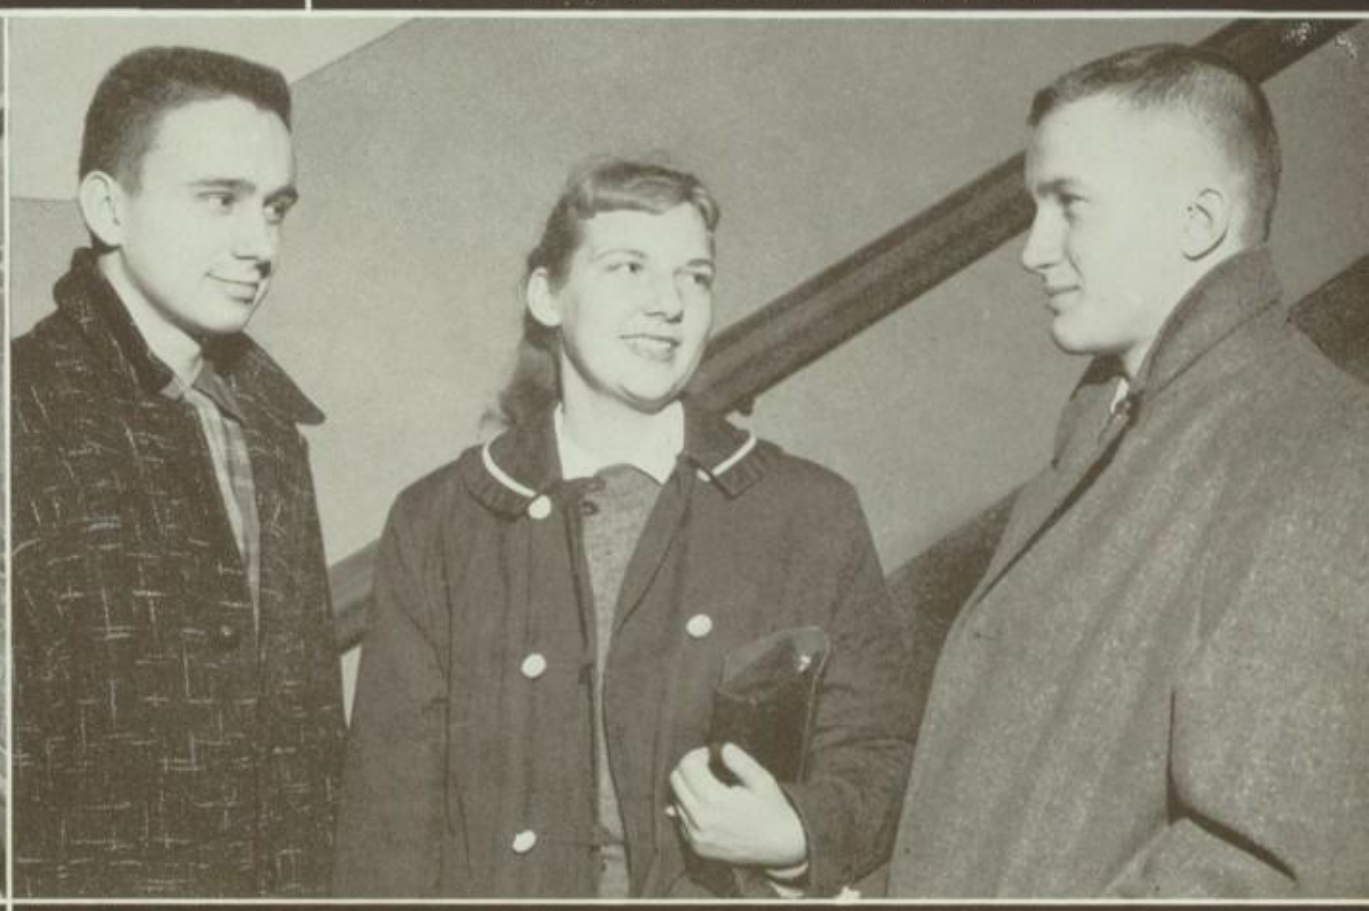


Something new! Redcat sweatshirts are the style in Mrs. Hoernel's senior homeroom, 411.

Pep Committee "livens up" in preparation for another rally.

A singing commercial, "Subscribe for The Oracle," is recorded in the booth by these seniors.

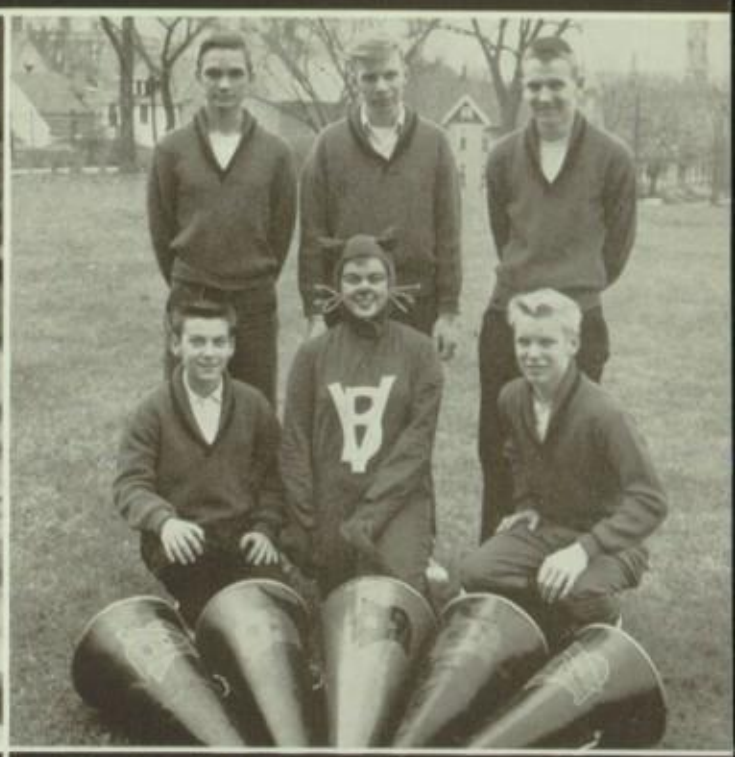
"We want 100 per cent" is the wish of these freshman homeroom representatives in the newspaper campaign.



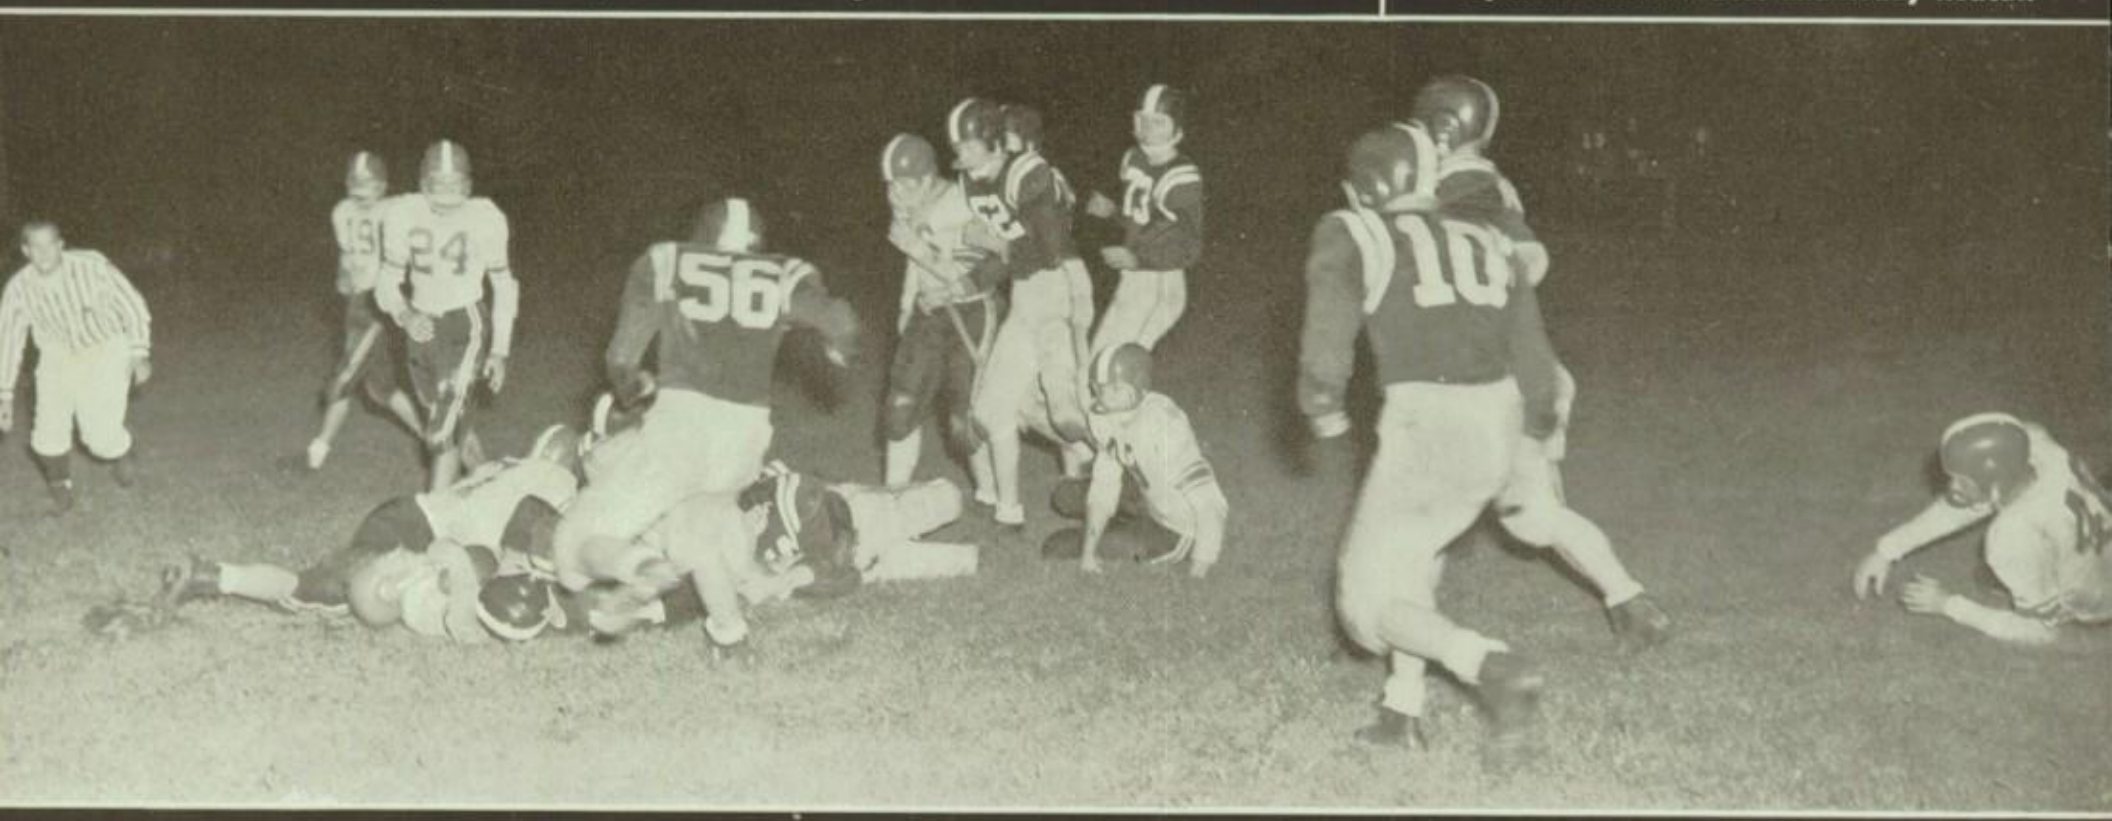
In silent soliloquies, John Schmuhl, Jane Pickard, and Richard Kiphart, S.G.A. delegates to the Janesville convention, say, "Let's go."

Excited crowds and lively cheers help our championship team . . .

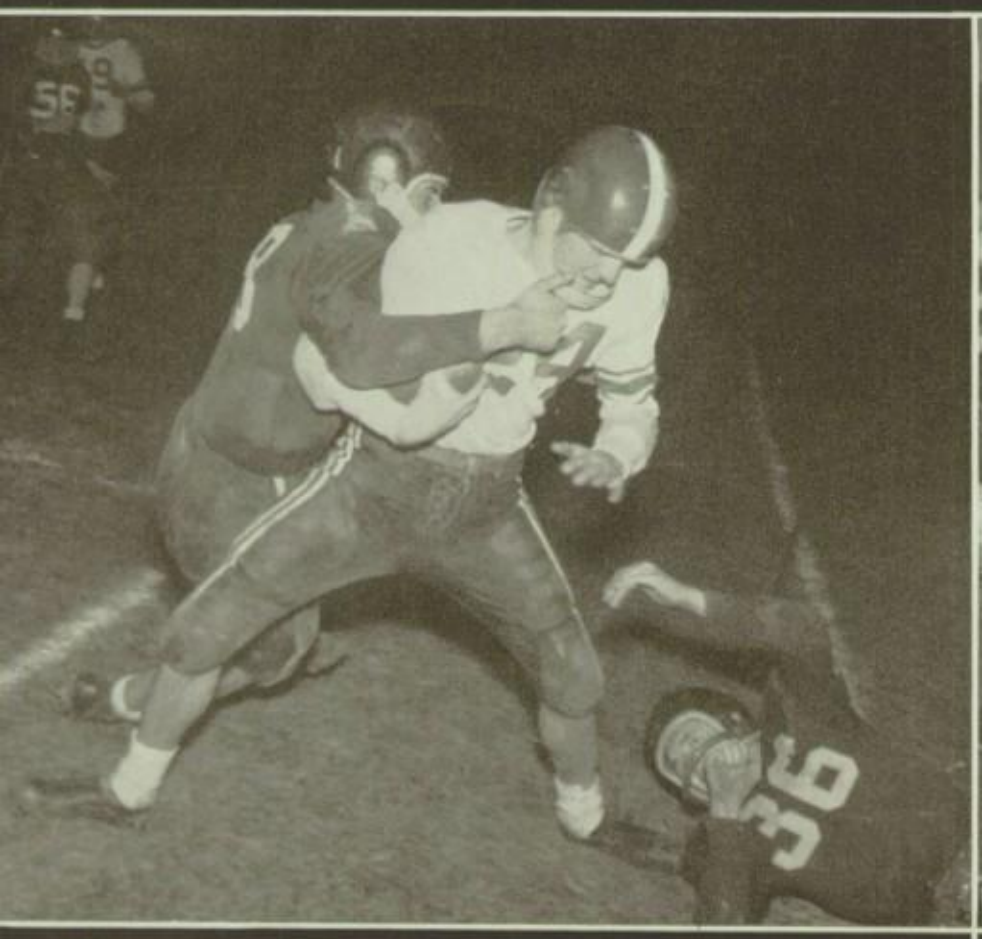
It's a big night for the boys at the football awards dinner, sponsored by the American Legion.



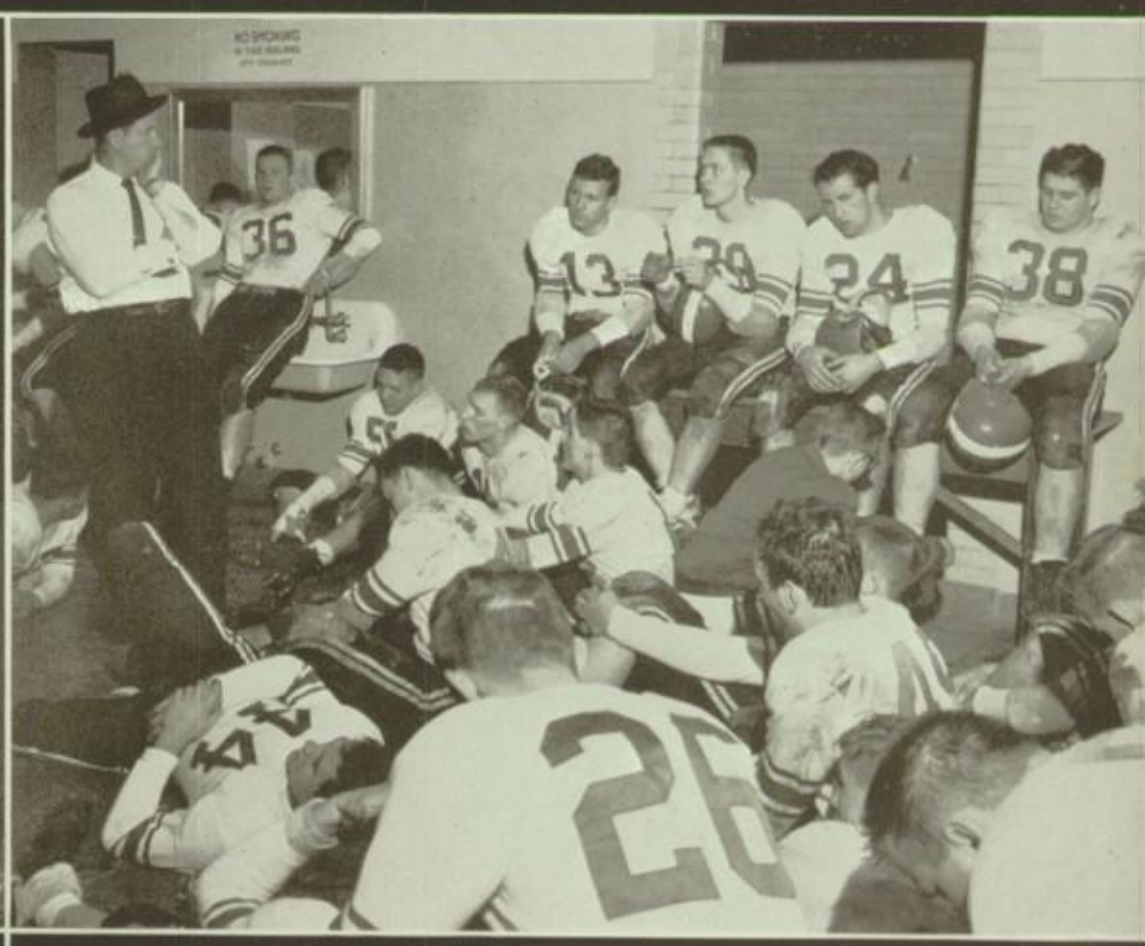
School spirit is kept high at football games by these cheerleaders and Reddy Redcat.



The team answers the crowd's cry for "Action, action, we want some action."



With power and determination, Allen Perry pushes ahead for extra yardage.



In the North Stadium locker room, the boys work out strategy for the second half of the victorious game.

. . . make football history with a city conference first.

Tension mounts on the sidelines as team and coach watch a decisive play.

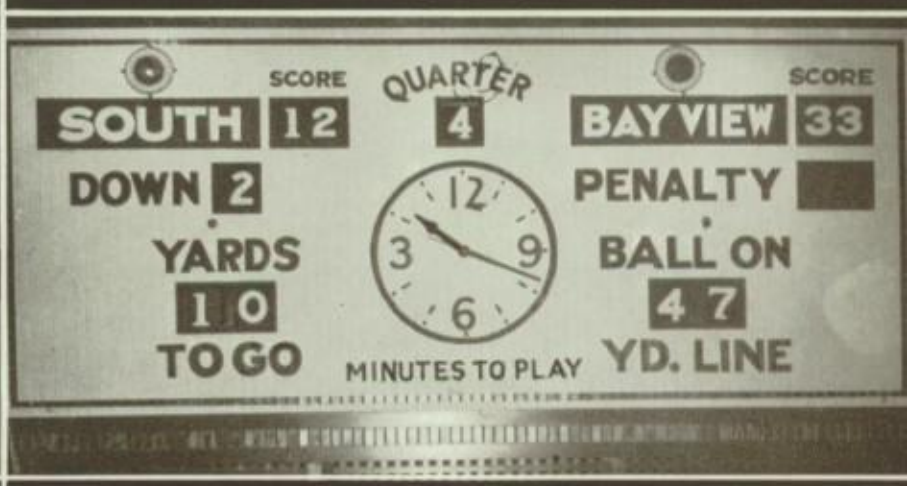
Triumphant at the close of a victorious season, the boys carry Coach Mierzwa off the field.

Major letters and hearty congratulations from Dr. Korn for a victorious season go to Terry Kayser and others of the 1957 team.

We lost the battle with West, but we won the title.

Tom White, Allen Perry, and Tim O'Brien admire the Pulaski-Bay View wooden football they helped win.

Three 1936 champions and a Ripon coach attend the 1957 championship banquet.

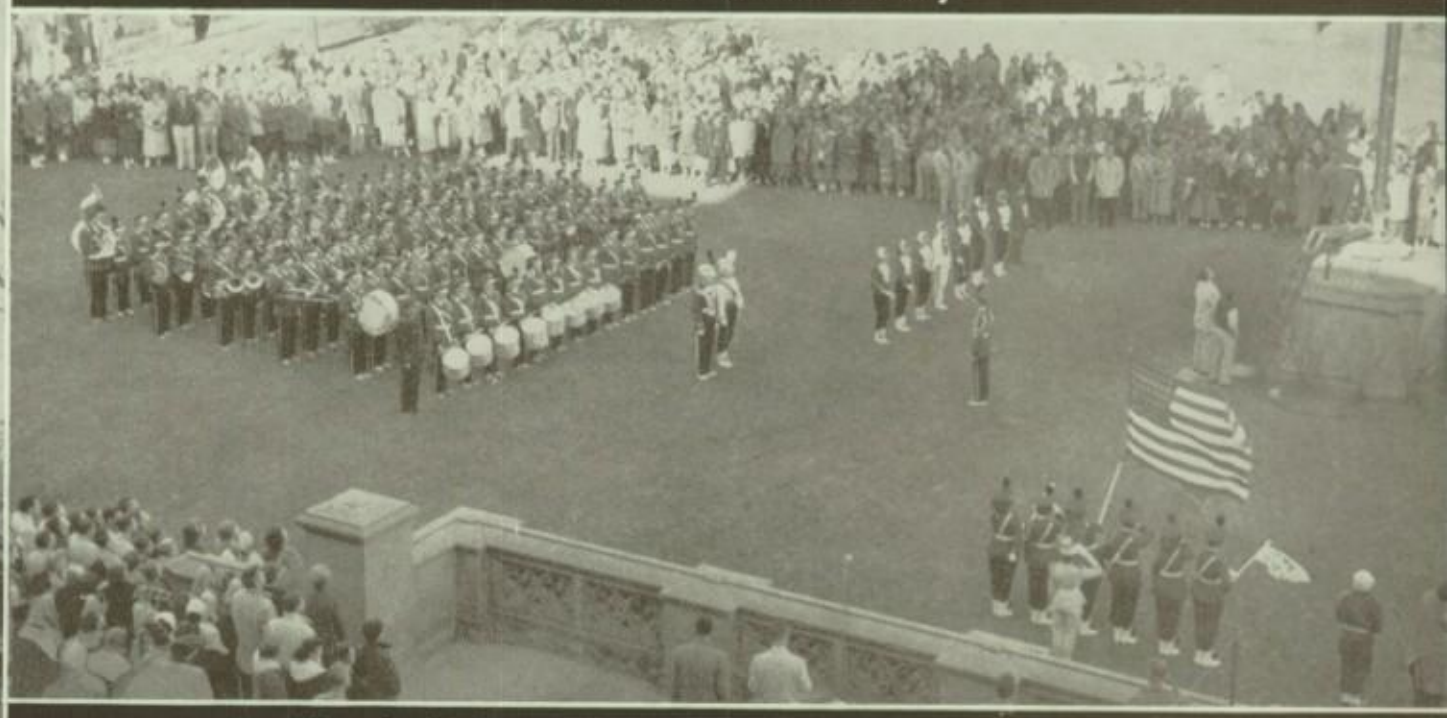


The scoreboard tells the story of the Homecoming game and Bay View's march to the championship.

In solemn ceremonies we honor our country's veterans.

Veterans of the wars hold the stage in the auditorium for the observance of Veteran's Day.

Brian Galligan, president of Boys' Club, leads the school in the Pledge of Allegiance.



The school observes Veteran's Day with solemn attention and a tribute to the war dead.

Men of the Bay View Legion Post, No. 180, close the Veteran's Day program with a salute to those who died in the wars.

The Veteran's Day convocation brings serious thoughts to the minds of Viewites.

Entertainment and instruction come to us via the stage.

"This is a fairy story," Gregg Mueller, as narrator, tells the cast of The Solid Gold Cadillac.

"Oh, no! That's how I got my start," explains Mrs. Partridge to a little old lady wishing to ask a question in the play.

Marlane Stanki holds the telephone for Mr. McKeever, Dennis Siehr, in The Solid Gold Cadillac.

Commentators spread the latest gossip about Mr. McKeever and Mrs. Partridge in the school play.

Special evening plus carefree mood equals a Saturday night dance.

For Cupid's Capers or Homecoming the dance band plays dreamy and jitterbug numbers.

The spotlight focuses on pretty girls and football heroes at the Homecoming dance.

Seniors of the football varsity and their girls make up the Homecoming royalty for this year's dance.

Another group of Homecoming royalty lines up to step right out on the dance floor.

"Make him tall, dark, and handsome," these girls ask of Santa at the Christmas dance.

The season of gaiety, beauty, and thoughtfulness—Christmas at Bay View.

Recording and rehearsing are part of a familiar cycle as the a cappella choir prepares for the Christmas program.

Gifts for boys' and girls' homes pile up under the tree.

"Silent Night, Holy Night" the Girls' Glee Club sings for the third-hour broadcast of Christmas carols.

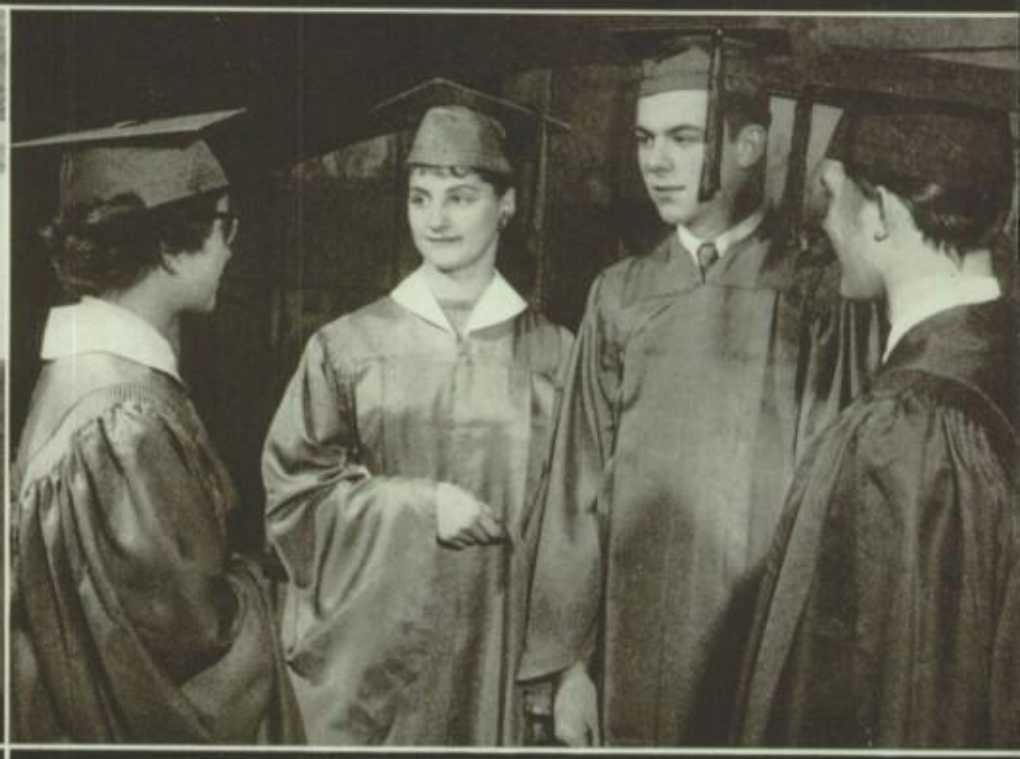
Christmas cookies. They're the way to anyone's heart these girls of Mrs. Fortney's class believe.

Charlotte Cooper, of Miss Schaarschmidt's Home Problems class, finds decorations are fun and easy to construct.

Everyone gets into the act as the spirit of Christmas fills Homeroom 413.

Semester's end brings big days for graduating seniors.

Shirley Weed has her credits checked by Mr. Wiley, chief counselor.



Cap and Gown Day is a one-and-only day for June grads.

The chemise gets into the picture on the June grads' Heel and Tie Day.

Heel and Tie Day means recognition for the graduates of January, 1958

Everyone has a chance to get into a picture.

A snow storm and the "flu" kept these students at home when homeroom pictures were taken for the annual.

At a Home Ec tea Miss Thornburg "pins" Kathy Damitz, Bay View's winner in a homemaker contest.

Parents of freshmen almost fill Miss Arndt's room, 327, on Parents' Night.

An important part of Parents' Night is the social hour in the cafeteria.

.G.A. officers for Semester II pose with the inauguration day speaker, Mr. Gustafson, of New Trier High School.

This group of Viewites also missed the important event of taking homeroom pictures for the annual.

Off-stage "slaves" help "The King and I" become the traditional sellout.

Wardrobe mistresses sew and sort costumes for the large cast.

Cast and coaches rehearse until late in the afternoon to learn cues and perfect lines and actions.

Scenery and props for the operetta take shape in the wood shop.

Heads move, toes turn, and arms bend in rehearsal of a Siamese dance for the operetta.

With papier mache and paste these artists can make anything the operetta needs.

It's all work and no play for stage crew boys placing scenery on stage.

Spring passes quickly as activities get finishing touches.

Health-conscious students have chest X-rays when the mobile unit visits Bay View.

These "salesmen" of Mr. Smith's and Miss Geiger's classes brought in ads for the annual.

A farewell message and an autograph must go in every friend's annual as school ends.

Books, notes, and note cards — it's term-paper time for seniors.

"Put these on your car bumper," Karen Mooney tells these prospective buyers.

All one-way stairways go down when that last day comes in June.

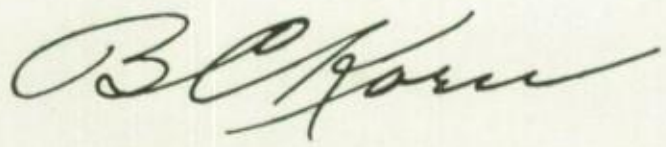
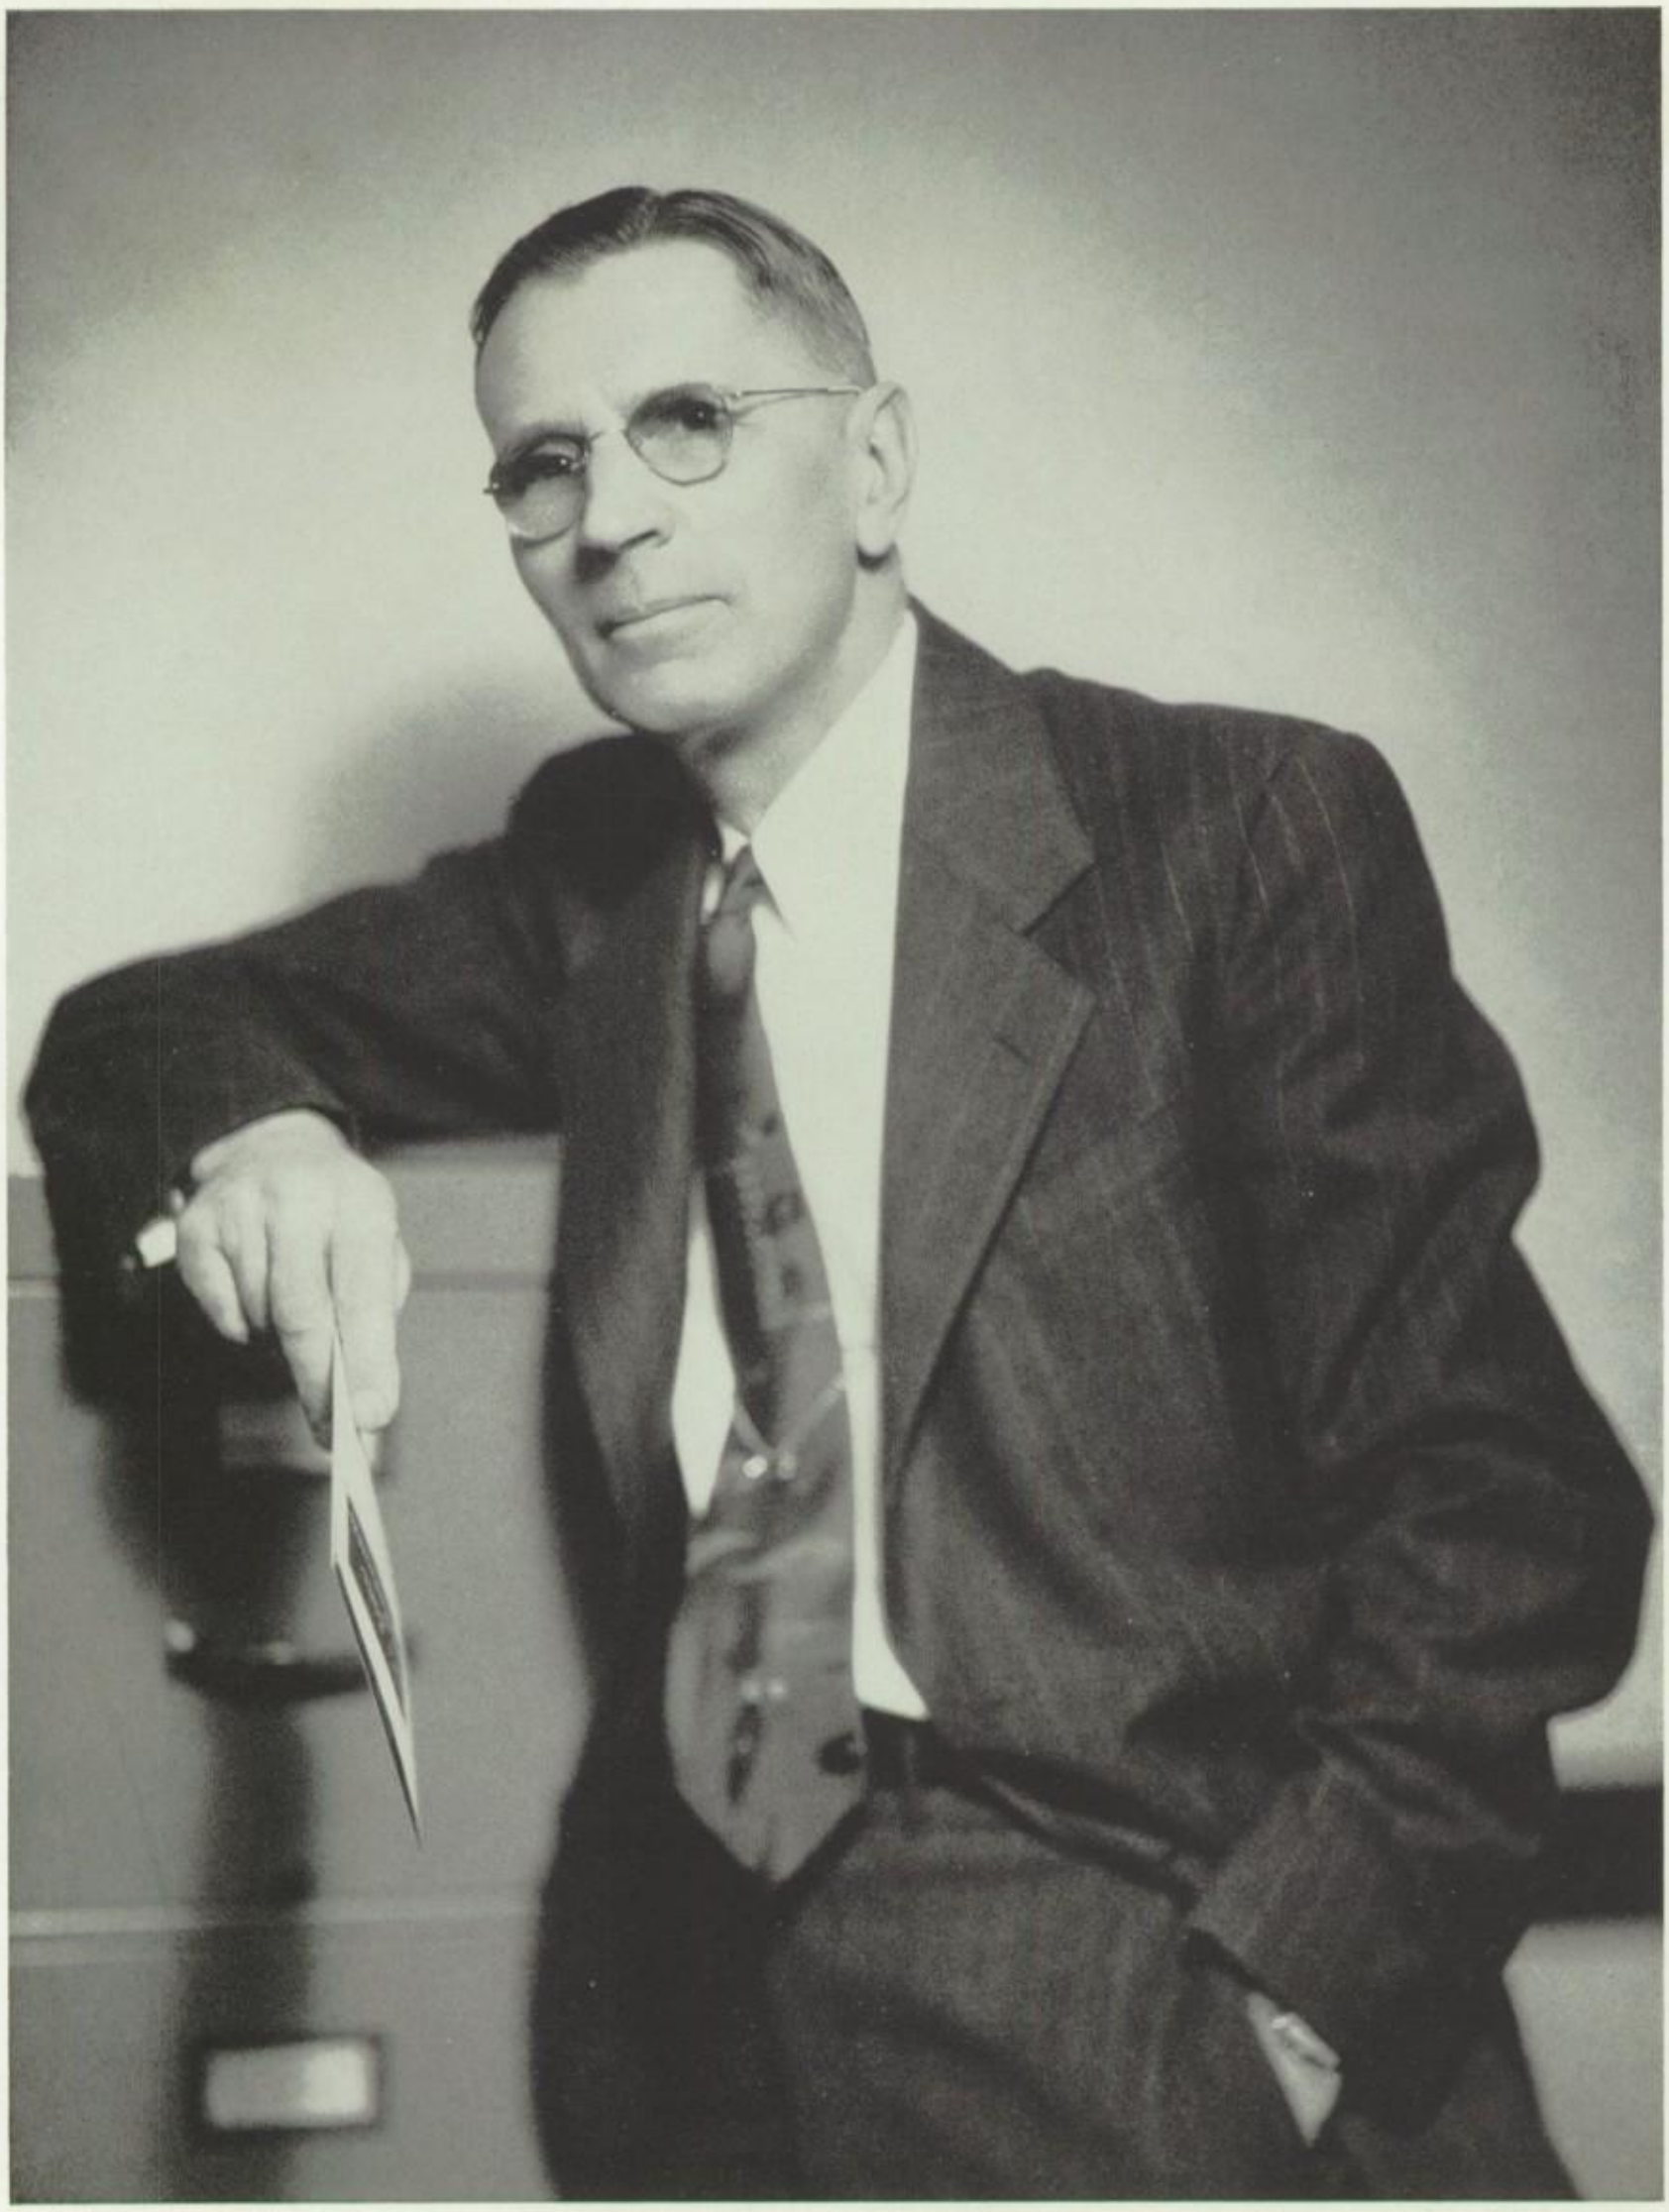
In this country, where educational opportunity for all the children of all the people has raised literacy to a higher standard than has been achieved in any other land, the schools need no apologist. Education here is evolutionary in nature, with new ideas, new concepts, new practices being introduced from year to year. There is nothing static about the American school. Better ways to bring learning to the young are always being sought and introduced.

Symbolic of the ever-changing school scene is the television theme of this Oracle. Bay View is proud to have been selected as one of the schools participating in the nation-wide experiment sponsored by the Ford Foundation. But this experiment is only one of many being carried on in the school. There is no lock step in the curriculum here. Under a well-developed guidance system each student is placed according to his demonstrated ability, each is impressed with his own responsibility for learning. There is a broad curriculum—a curriculum designed to serve students of varying capacities and interests. Be it in the sciences, the humanities, the vocations, or the arts, there is something to interest and to challenge the student. In each of these areas there are special classes which enable the student to develop his special skills to the extent of his capabilities.

A dedicated faculty and a flexible curriculum make it possible to serve effectively all of the children of all the people in the Bay View community.





DR. BERNHARD C. KORN, Principal

Careful GUIDANCE Helps the Student

When the Bay View High School senior has completed his thirty-two credits for graduation and is ready for the next step, at work or in college, he has had the benefit of careful and continuous guidance during his four years of high school.

A staff of counselors and his homeroom teacher were at all times ready to help him — to plan a logical program of studies to meet his needs, to give help if some scholastic or personal problem temporarily blocked his progress, to provide direction for his future, vocationally and academically.

Even before the student left the elementary school, he prepared for his coming to high school with the assistance of members of the guidance staff. He met the counselor who was to be his special advisor during the next four years, he was given a mathematics ability test to determine his selection of high school math studies, and he planned with his counselors, and with his eighth grade teacher and parents, the course he would take in high school.

MR. DONDLINGER, Vice-Principal

MR. WILEY, Counselor Chairman

On that important day of his arrival at Bay View, he was not afraid or unsure, thanks to his pre-school counseling and the freshman handbook, "Your First Day at Bay View High School," which he had received earlier. Instead, he was ready and happy to join the thirty or forty other freshmen who were to live and work together in one homeroom during their high school years, supervised by one homeroom teacher, and guided by one class counselor.

Throughout his career at Bay View he found his counselors and homeroom teacher a constant source of help — personally, scholastically, and vocationally. There were further tests at various times, for reading skills, aptitudes, and intelligence. There were group guidance sessions during the Wednesday life advisement periods, for discussion of acceptable school and social conduct, harmonious personal relationships, job opportunities, and other topics vital to the young person in the formative years of his life.

Plan His Studies and Career

Each semester this Bay View graduate-to-be had the opportunity to see films in auditorium meetings planned for various grade levels — such films as "Benefits of Looking Ahead," "Belonging to Groups," "Aptitudes and Occupations," "How to Keep a Job."

From time to time he attended career meetings at which representatives of various occupations — generally experts in their fields — discussed job qualifications, preparation, and opportunities. If his plan was to work immediately after high school, he was given guidance as to where he might go to apply for a job and how to apply. If his interest was college, he took the Merit Scholarship Examination and later the College Board Examination to determine his fitness for college. He conferred with representatives of various schools and, if he qualified, applied for scholarships with the assistance of counselors; and he had an opportunity to visit on the campus of the college in which he was interested, to get first hand information.

This year Bay View's Student Government Association and the Honor Committee established an honor system in the senior classes. As more students understand the responsibilities incumbent upon such a system, it is planned to extend it to other grade levels. Its primary aim is not the prevention of cheating but the building of individual character.

"Stop! You're going up the down stairs" was the new cry in '58. We mean, of course, the one-way traffic stairway plan, which was put into effect at the beginning of the second semester to save time by avoiding congestion.

Outstanding committees which have functioned this year include Central Study Hall, Building Control, Ring, Public Relations, and Dance, the last of which reached an all-time high in securing the attendance of over a thousand students for the Homecoming and "Noel Nocturne" dances, and over six hundred for "Cupid's Capers." The junior-senior semi-formal in May, "Hawaiian Moonlight," was outstanding because of its tropical atmosphere and bold dashes of color.

Activities developed for and with the community included promoting the Red Feather campaign, sending Christmas gifts to boys and girls in corrective institutions, participating as hosts and guests in a city-wide student exchange program, assisting with the planning of the Fall 1958 Pigskin Preview and with the city-wide project of placing decals on cars. Special trips included the tour of the Milwaukee courts and government buildings during Crime Prevention Week and a journey to Janesville for a State Student Council Convention.

All in all, the first year of the second decade of student government, which begins with 1958, not only furthered already established good procedures, but added two all-school innovations, the senior class honor system and the one-way stairways, and hopefully looks forward to continuing broadening horizons.

"At the conclusion of this afternoon's broadcast, will all newspaper reporters please report to the Oracle office."

With this announcement another two-week period of writing, proofreading, pasting, and headlining is underway. Reporters receive their assignments from editors who have met with their advisor to determine the issues, pictures, lead stories, and features. The business and advertising staffs work together to get advertisements to help pay for the paper and to get subscriptions.

After two weeks of work, the results can be viewed by all the students as the Oracles are distributed to all the homerooms for everyone's enjoyment.

LETTERMEN'S SECTION

Dennis Waldoch, Russell Leaman, Abel Gonzales, Jack Hart, Michael Stanki

The purpose of Boys' Club is to service the school, with special emphasis on important tasks rather than on social meetings.

The club has two general meetings each semester. The boys then sign up for any of the following sections: Athletic Publicity, Cheerleaders, Civil Defense (including Air Raid Wardens, Disaster Crew, First Aid Crew, Rescue Crew, and Fire Wardens), and Flag Crew.

Other sections offered to the boys are Electronics, Photography, Aviation, Conservation, or Athletics. There is also a Lettermen's section of the club.

Sectional meetings are called whenever needed, and officers are elected at a general meeting. When the business part of the meeting is finished, the boys are shown sport movies.

Cultures Meet on Common Ground

Foreign Language Club began the year with a general meeting in East Study Hall. Such general meetings are held throughout the year and provide educational and entertaining programs for the club members.

In addition to these assemblies, each language group holds sectional meetings wherein students gain a better understanding of other nations by studying their language, customs, and literature.

Each semester the club sponsors a paid program in the auditorium. This year two outstanding speakers, Robert Davis and Neil Douglas, presented their film lectures on Sicily and Mexico, respectively.

The club had its annual banquet in December, at which Berit Lotherington, of Norway, and Francisco Gonzales, of Spain, two foreign exchange students, were invited to speak.

To complete these activities, the club awarded five pins and two scholarships to outstanding students of the languages.

Each year finds Girls' Club a little bigger than the year before — and each year finds the programs more original. For the past year all the skits presented have been written and directed by the girls themselves, and very active art committees have made interesting, attractive, though simple backgrounds for each performance. Nancy Purdy did an exceptional job the first semester, and Barbara DeWitt continued the second.

Highlights for the year 1957 to 1958 have been skits presenting marriage customs throughout the world, Hallowe'en pranks, Christmas in various lands, Girls' Club talent, hillbilly life, spring styles, and the cleverness of the four classes challenging each other in contests.

"Cavalcade of Cans" again went over the top, and the freshman and senior parties proved fun.

The one hundred dollar scholarship award went to last year's secretary, Carole Niehoff.

for a Well-rounded Viewite

"Variety is the spice of life." How well these words are proven as Round Table, one of the most versatile clubs at Bay View, swings headlong into action each year.

Variety is had in Stage Make-Up, Forensics, Book-in-Hand, Foreign Correspondence, Music Appreciation, Chess, and one of the newest stars on the Round Table horizon, Debate.

Chess Club, a favorite among the different groups, has induced those interested to either learn the game or participate on the team. Those on the team would have acquired a city championship but for a fraction of a point.

A speaker was sponsored by Round Table during the first semester, who presented dramatic monologues, captivating and intriguing the audience.

With the progress it has made and the incentive given students by its nine advisors, Round Table has proven itself one of the favored spots on Bay View's agenda of extra-curricular offering.

SCIENCE CLUB of Today

PHOTOGRAPHY

Patricia Burkhalter, Harold Olsen, Thomas Schumaker, Ronald Kuta

Chock full of eleven different sections, Science Club functions as many organizations within one. The purpose of the club is to help students acquire greater scientific knowledge through interest in science and its application.

The club is made up of eleven sections, which are: three general science sections, two biology sections, two chemistry sections, a physics section, a photography section, a home gardening section, and a ham radio section. The different sections carry on experiments leading to after-school study and laboratory work, plus library research.

The club often takes sectional tours of industrial plants which give future scientists and engineers an inside view of the industrial life.

ART CLUB Sets the Scene for Talent

Remember the enormous poster down on the first floor which advertised the music festival? Remember the signs in the cafeteria illustrating different kinds of lunchers? At Christmastime — when do you first notice the gaiety of the season? Where else but in the decorations in the halls and on bulletin boards throughout the school.

This club has also worked out the scenery for all our class plays and operettas, besides having interested members participate in various contests offered for competitive art.

X club was organized with the purpose of increasing high scholarship and bringing information about college life.

Regular meetings are held to carry out this important purpose. Committees this year have introduced the members to various philosophies of life.

Since many of the club members are going to college, they have joined together to discuss the merits of a number of colleges and universities.

Speakers' Bureau advises freshman and sophomore homerooms concerning the maze of activities and codes at high school; Plaque Committee awards plaques to those homerooms of different grade levels deserving of this honor; and Greeters and Guides present Bay View to those students entering school for the first time in the year or transferring from a different high school.

As one can see, X Club aims to serve the student body well, and, by functioning in an organized manner, fulfills its purpose.

The purpose of Future Teachers of America, usually known as F.T.A., is to interest students in the teaching profession and eventually to close the gap of teachers needed throughout the United States. F.T.A. members are called into classes to substitute when teachers are absent. It is an experience that they can hardly forget, as they teach their first class and see the faces of their own classmates looking up at them.

This is the second year that the group functioned as an organization, previously having been called together during a life advisement period. The organization is divided into two groups. In one, all the B or above-average juniors and seniors do the active work; and in the other, all upperclassmen attend F.T.A. general meetings.

In addition to actual teaching, activities of F.T.A. include tutoring students who have been sick and assisting weak students with their work. Helping to prepare library assignments and administering make-up assignments are other important F.T.A. duties.

U. S. HISTORY CLUB . . . Search and Research

The United States History Club, which is becoming increasingly popular every semester, is open to any junior or senior who is enrolled in a social science subject and has an average of "B" or above. The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in history and to hold good, intelligent discussions.

"The Egg and I," the proceeds of which will enable the members to visit the Wisconsin State Historical Museum and the Capitol in Madison, was presented to the school in the second semester.

An election between the Political Science group and the United States History Club was held, in which students contested for positions on City Government Day.

This is a club with a promising future, a future being partially fulfilled today.

In drubbing Lincoln in the season finale, the 1957 Redcat football team captured a share of the coveted conference championship. One of the greatest teams in Bay View history accomplished the 6-2 standing in one of the strongest leagues the city has known. As well as tying Boys' Tech for first place, the Redcats also swept the conference scoring crown, and landed three players on the all-city teams, Ralph Kubinski, Mike Stanki, and Allan Perry receiving the honors.

CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD

The cross country team completed another successful season, having won all varsity dual meets. In addition they won the South Side championship.

The "flu" epidemic hit the team heavily near the end of the season. Thus, without the services of many of our best runners, the Redcats took only a third in the Midwest Championship, a fourth place in the City, and a sixth place in the Class A State Meet. Byron Huebschen, our captain, set three new course records: Humboldt Park, East Division, and Pulaski. On East Division's course he set a new two-mile record of 9:57. The B team also had a perfect dual meet record, winning five and losing none.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Bay View's '57-'58 basketball team, although having a tough season, enjoyed several high moments. Despite a disappointing record of 2-13 and a last-place city conference finish, the Redcats had their moments of pride, one when the squad upset the Mayville team, another when they defeated Custer. The lack of height in the first string, which played with four juniors in the lineup, was a major obstacle against the taller opponents. However, the experience gained at the expense of this season will prove valuable in the year to come, when four first stringers will return.

In dual-meet competition the Redcat swimmers had one of the finest records in the city (10-2).

The two losses came after Tom Zizic, the captain and an outstanding swimmer, graduated in mid-year.

Roger Sell completed his diving career unbeaten in dual meets and finished second in the city meet. Warren Emery and Henry Topley placed third in the city meet and took fifth and sixth places respectively in the state meet.

BASKETBALL

Participate in G.A.A. as Seasons Pass

In September, while colorful, crisp leaves found their way to the ground, two new teachers found their way to the girls' physical education department. The new advisors were Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Wilcox. With these new teachers came new ideas, as fresh as the cooling winds.

The bleak greys and whites of winter, however, moved in quickly and the girls, clad in traditional blue, moved from the outdoor sports of tennis and field hockey to the warmer climates of the gym and pool. While the "swish" of a ball neatly moving through a basket was heard in the gym, the girls of the pool were sending out weird oriental sounds as Nereids' members practiced for their annual swim show entitled "Around the World in 80 Minutes."

The snows were over now; the wind was warming. G.A.A. turned to open their softball season by presenting a film reviewing the 1957 World Series. Meanwhile, competitive softball teams fought like National Leaguers for the G.A.A. title of "Softball Champs."

The fresh lake breath upon the air brought swimming. And in what better way could a talented swimmer use her spare time than by practicing for the inter-class swim meet? It is always an exciting event to see if the seniors will keep their titles as champions of the water.

All that was left was the G.A.A. banquet — the final event of the year which honored all those girls who did well in the various sports. The year was ended.

Class Notes

As we sat in the auditorium on graduation night, mortar boards set squarely on our heads and the full, straight gowns giving us a look of maturity and dignity, one could not believe that four short years before we had entered the same auditorium as freshmen setting out in a new and different world — high school.

The strains of the orchestra, the sight of our homeroom teachers on the platform sent our minds back in memory over the past four years. As freshmen we took the usual junior business training, algebra, and health classes. But most of all we remember that first semi-formal dance, Stardreams, and the pleasure we had as one of the first classes to attend such dance at Bay View.

In our second year there were innovations for Bay View — new and different report cards, with A's, B's and C's and possibly an occasional D or U. During that year our geometry, biology, and bookkeeping classes were shifted from pillar to post because all of the classrooms were being painted and the desks refinished.

Our third year held fun and laughter in addition to the harder tasks of advanced classes. We were delighted by Annie Get Your Gun and amused by the convicts in My Three Angels, the while we were engrossed in chemistry experiments, in higher math, and in American literature.

Our last year was the best of all. The staff of the annual decided that our class of graduates would have individual pictures in the yearbook, the first time in many years; and this year was climaxed by a glorious triumph when our football team became co-champions in the city conference — a high moment in our high school years, all of which have been wonderful and never-to-be-forgotten.

Class Notes

Looking back over their four years of high school, the graduates recall with pleasure one clear and brilliant autumn day in September, 1954, when they took their first step toward becoming the Bay View class of June, 1958. They entered high school, they were freshmen, and they were afraid.

In that first year the halls were too long, the study halls too large, teachers too strict, and friends too scarce. These freshmen worked faithfully in homeroom every eighth hour and left school promptly at 3:10. That year school was just "school."

The sophomore year found them more confident among their companions, most of them from homeroom. They began to notice all the sport and club activities during eighth hour and after hours. A few adventurous souls got into the swing of big things while more cautious sophomores contented themselves with joining a club or two. For the most part school was still just "school."

But what happened? The next year school was "Bay View," they were juniors, and they knew their way around. S.G.A., the newspaper, the annual, dramatics, musical and athletic organizations claimed the leadership and talent of many of their ranks. Special history and science classes added to the educational challenge. Corridors seemed smaller and crowded, teachers became sources of information and guidance, and companions were now old friends.

Only one more year of high school remained. Therein Bay View became "Alma Mater." These students, now seniors, looked forward to entering the adult world, yet they noted each day's swift passing a little wistfully. There were new classes, new educational television, new honor systems, but these were to be a part of their lives for only a short time. The success of the new and responsibility for the traditional were left in the hands of future students who will carry on at Bay View.

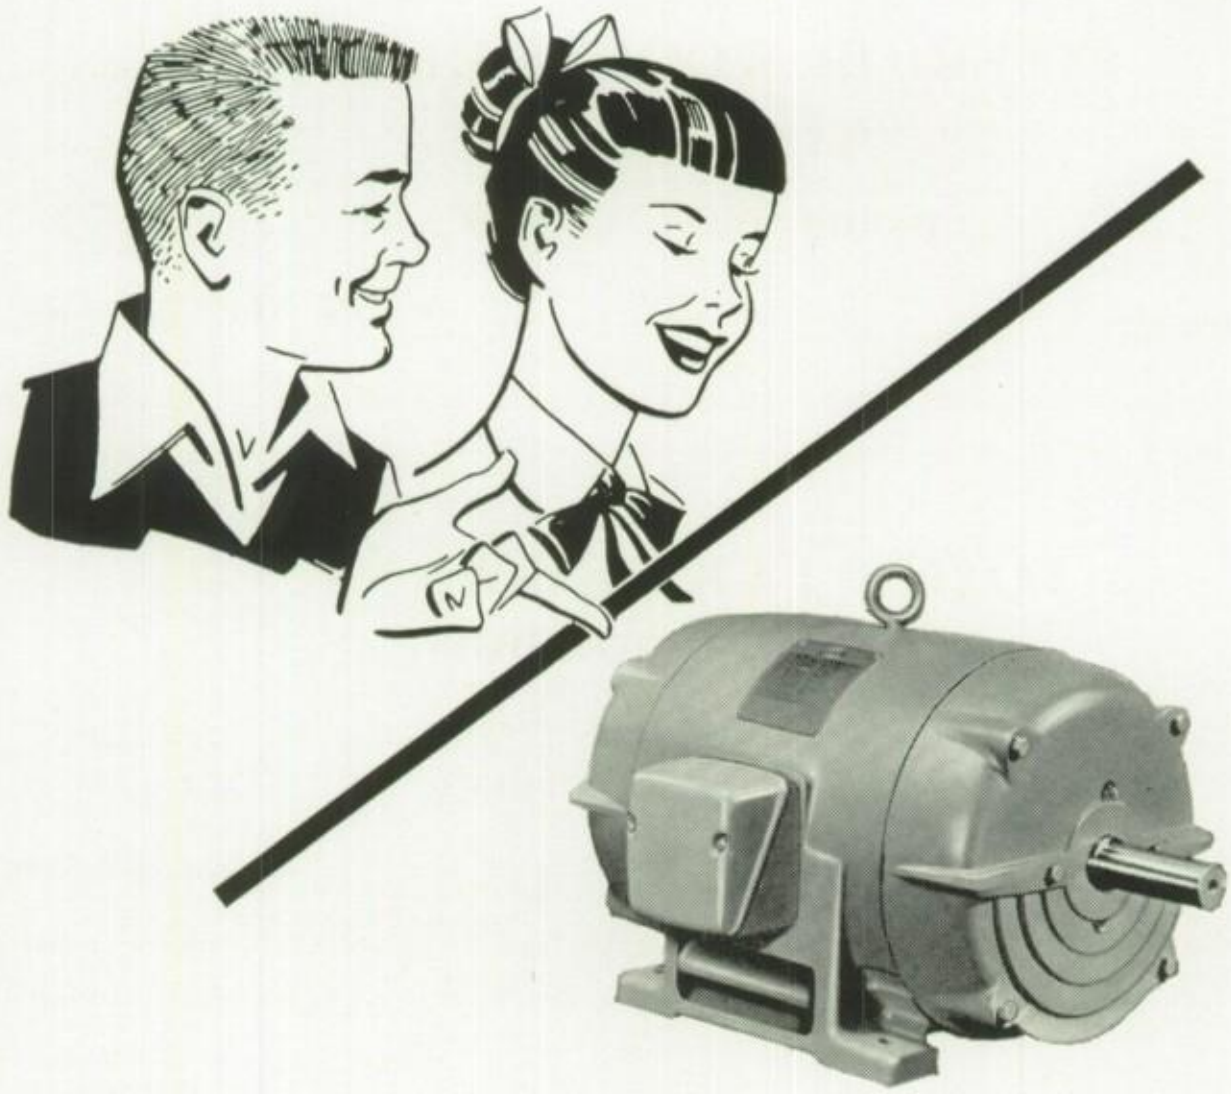
"A Service to Industry"



NOT A JOB—BUT A CAREER!

OUR story at Louis Allis is one of steady growth. Continued research and development and outstanding customer service have made us one of the largest manufacturers of electric motors and drives in the country.

As a result, our company today is four times as large as it was only a generation ago, and we are still growing.

Louis Allis motors, gearmotors, and adjustable-speed drives find application in almost every industry — paper making and converting, chemical, food, metal working, textile, petroleum, just to name a few. There's ample opportunity for young people to advance in our many departments. Why don't you consider a career at Louis Allis?

Carol —

Here I am writing in your reserved section. It's an honor. To write all the wonderful things I think about you might sound silly on paper, and I'm sure you understand what I feel. You're one of the nicest people I've ever met and if I have to travel twenty miles to come to Bay View next year, it will be because of you and people like you (with there are very few of) I'm looking forward to math, English and other things with you in the fall.
